

Patrick Deadman
Patrick Deadman

PRESS RELEASE

October 31, 2002

Psychic Counsellor

Psychic service to boost business

A Leicestershire psychic is launching a new consultancy service to help local businesses make the right commercial decisions.

Patrick Deadman, 41, has offered psychic consultancy to a wide range of clients, including several Midlands business people, for more than 15 years from his north Leicestershire home.

Now he is keen to expand his service to businesses aiming to win success in a volatile modern economy.

Mr Deadman said: "Over the years I've given readings to people from all walks of life, including local business people who have found my commercial advice valuable in making key decisions. Some ring me on a regular basis before making new investments – and my insight has worked for them.

"As the economy moves into an uncertain period I'd like to offer my insight to help more companies – and would invite them to contact me if they are facing difficult decisions."

One local businessman who can vouch for Mr Deadman's psychic prowess is XXXX XXXX, who runs a successful XXXX business in XXXXXX.

It was Mr Deadman's advice which helped see his business grow from bla bla bla...

more